A Chance to Buy Precious Stones.

Kansas City Times.

France owns a lot of precious stones known in history as the crown diamonds. Counting all kinds there are over 60,000 of these precious stones, and the chief of the lot is the famous Regent diamond. It weighs 136 carats, and is valued at $2,400,000. The Minister of France takes precious good care of these diamonds, which France values at something like $3,500,000. In 1878 they were on exhibition at the Paris exposition, sharing the honors with the Prince of Wales' Indian collection near by. In all there are 51,400 brilliants, 20,119 roses, 2,968 pearls, 507 rubies, 134 sapphires, 312 emeralds, 528 turquoise, 22 opals, and 492 assorted sorts.

The Republicans hold that a Republic has no business to keep locked up such a lot of crown diamonds, and it is proposed to sell them and apply the amount realized to the foundation of a fund for purchasing pictures and objects for the State museums. Besides the celebrated Regent diamond, there is another one well worth having. It is a brilliant of 66 carats, and is worth $600,000. The third best in the lot is one weighing 33 carats, $200,000, and besides these three there are more than a dozen ranging all the way from $20,000 to $60,000 each. In the list there is one lot of "thirty-two brilliants, mediocre quality," put down at $775; also "123 small brilliants" scheduled at $1,000.

A Colored Man's Account of Liberia.

Hawkinsville Dispatch.

On Friday last, Elijah Gordon, colored, reached Hawkinsville after an absence of about ten days in Liberia. He says the emigrants on reaching Liberia take the fever, and many of them die. Nearly all of them would return immediately if they had the money. He describes the climate as very warm—no difference between summer and winter. Coffee and ginger are the only money crops. The people live on fruits and "casadas," a kind of root something like the sweet potato. These crops are never gathered, but taken from the ground as they are wanted for food. Ploughs are not used in the cultivation of the land. He says a cotton seed planted when they arrived ten years ago made a large stalk, which grew like a tree, and was still growing and bearing cotton when he left. The people have no stock. The natives subsist in a nude state, living upon the natural products of the land, and are separated by tribes which hate each other, and are continually at war. He does not think the country is improving any, as the main efforts of the immigrants, after they have seen the country, are devoted to piano or means by which to obtain money to return to the United States.

Applied Theology.

Albany Argus.

At a meeting of the Woburn Conference Farmer Allen of Wakefield related the following anecdote:

On Sunday morning, while a certain deacon was preparing for church, a wandering wayfarer, or, in modern parlance, a tramp, appeared at his door, pleaded his hunger, and begged for something to eat. The deacon looked solemn and frowningly, but reluctantly got a loaf of bread and began to cut it; but while doing so took occasion to admonish the beggar concerning the error of his ways. After reminding him that it was the holy Sabbath which he was desecrating, asked him if he knew how to pray. "No," was the reply. "Then," said the deacon, "I'll teach you" and he commenced to repeat the Lord's Prayer.

But just as he uttered the first words, "Our Father," the beggar interrupted him with the question, "What is he your father and mine, too?"

"Yes," the deacon replied.

"Why," exclaimed the beggar, "we are brothers, then, ain't we? Can't you cut that loaf a little thicker?"

Cincinnati Gazette.

Lawyer Benham, of the old Cincinnati Bar, was an orator, and very fond of showing off his classical learning before a jury. In a murder trial in defending the prisoner, he warned the jury not to allow public opinion, which was against his client, to influence their verdict. "Gentlemen of the jury," he said, in concluding his appeal, "give up, drop entirely all feeling in this important matter, and be like the ancient Roman in his adherence to the truth, who, in his defense most eloquently declared: 'Amicus Cato, amicus Pluto, amicus Cicero sed major veritas.' (I am a friend to Cato, a friend to Pluto, a friend to Cicero, but a greater friend to truth.)"

The next morning the lawyer found himself reported in the newspaper, as follows: "Advocate Benham, the great orator, closed his great speech to the jury eloquently declaiming: 'I may cuss Cato, I may cuss Pluto, I may cuss Cicero, and Major Veritas.'"

Slaven's Effervescent California Fruit Salt

Is prepared from sound, ripe fruit, by an experienced analytical chemist, who has spent years in experimenting on its preparation. It is manufactured in a special apparatus, known to the proprietors. This preparation is a safe, simple and effectual medicine for regulating the action of the stomach, liver, and kidneys. It is most particularly recommended for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Heartburn, Colic, Ulcers of the Stomach, Habitual Constipation, Nephritis, Stones, Kidney and Liver Troubles. Over-indulgence either in eating or drinking, etc. As a purifier in all Scorbutic Diseases, it has the equal of all other purifiers, and has the additional advantage of a cooling and invigorating effect on the system. The "HUIT SALT" is entirely different from any of the effervescent Salts or Sedative preparations in the market, being manufactured from Fruits. For sale by Deacon & Associates.

What Dr. Gardner Says:

TULPEO, Ohio, January 3, 1879. The California Fruit Salt is a great preparation: Please send immediately one gross of your Pine and Sarsaparilla Forna Plasters. I have been using them in my practice for the past three months and find their effects most wonderful, especially in lung diseases and all affections of the skin, especially in children. I am sure they are superior to any Plasters manufactured. I can conscientiously recommend them to my professional brethren.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

TRE DEAR DUKE.

Who is this Duke of Sutherland anyhow? What is his right name and what particular eminence has he achieved on his little island? He has been traveling and found fault with the railroads, but confesses that he can only ride twenty-seven hours over one line at home. He has, after a lapse of a decade, just learned the central feature of American journalism. The interviewer has been warming the Duke and now his grace stings his benefactor.

"You ask me," says his Grace, "what struck me as being the most novel feature in my American experience? Well, the interviewer."

The fact that Sutherland found this out after crossing the continent twice shows how perspicuous a Duke has to be.

He was everywhere, improving as we came nearer to New York. In one case out west an interviewer confessed that he regarded interest first and truth afterwards; but he was an exception.

His Grace evidently met a Chronicle man and does not like to say so.

It is not so here, and I cannot say that I complain of being interviewed. It is not one of the American novelties, however, that I would like to see introduced into England.

Bless his eminence for not complaining, and for confessing that England is bashful. Then the dear Duke, who will have his joke, after simpering in anticipation, drawled this:

You may keep that at home, with your revolvers and your big stories. We have seen enough of both these latter on our travels.

We hope that the yearly output of English Dukes will not exceed the demand for home consumption. There are some intellectual Dukes among American interviewers, Mr. Sutherland, and that's another feature which may strike you as novel.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

According to a Southern correspondent, Mr. Jefferson Davis' profits from his history of the late war promise to be very large. The cheapest form of the book is $10 for the two volumes, and the price runs from this up to $25. Mr. Davis cannot receive less than $2 for each book sold, and the sale of over 50,000 copies is already assured. The English copyright has been secured. Mr. Davis has drawn nothing from his publishers up to date, but there are expenses of secretaries, amanuenses, etc., amounting to probably $10,000. The contract with the Appletons was made six years ago. Mr. Davis will probably receive $100,000 as his share of the profits of the first year's sale.

The investigation of San Francisco Mint matters will soon be under way. Ex-Governor Ramsey left St. Paul for Washington Monday to accept the Chairmanship of the Committee to investigate charges preferred by Congressman Page against Superintendent Dodge of the San Francisco Mint. The appointment of ex-Secretary of War Ramsey, in connection with the examination of charges preferred against Superintendent Dodge will be the only regular appointment made. Ramsey, however, will be empowered to associate others with himself for the purpose of assisting in the work.

Complaint is made that the large flocks of sheep, now being driven through Humboldt and other counties in Nevada, are damaging the roads materially. There is no law that compels the owners of the sheep to compensate the county for damage to roads, and the Assessor cannot get a cent from them, as they have tax receipts from counties in California from which they started.

Numerous complaints have been made by American Hebrews that the Russian Government, in its persecution of the Jews of that empire, has committed outrages upon Jews who have held American passports. Inquiry at the State Department elicits the fact that no such cases have been reported to our minister at St. Petersburg.

Musical.

The Mendelssohn Quintette Club will appear here under the auspices of the Reform Club on Thursday night, June 30th. The members of this club are all said to be artists in their line and upon their particular instruments.

The Gazette hopes that a good programme will be assigned for the evening, and the audience will no doubt be uppermost.

The members of the Club are Miss Maria Nellini, soprano; Isidor Schnitzer, 1st violin; Ernst Thiel, 2nd violin; Thomas Ryan, 1st viola and flute; Wm. Schade, 2nd viola and flute; Frederick Geiss, violoncello; all of whom rank as artists of note in their special line of instrumentation.

The East Behind as Usual.

ROCHESTER, June 23. Professor Swift has received dispatches indicating that another great comet has been discovered by L. L. Edwards, Haverford, Pa., and Edgar L. Larkin, of Windsor, Ill. It is in constellation Auriga and very large.

Labor at Auction.

New York Sun.

Two negroes were put on the auction block, much in the style of slavery days, at Lexington, Ky., a few days ago. They had been sentenced to a year's servitude apiece for vagrancy, and their labor for that term was what was offered for sale. A cattle auctioneer was the salesman, and the men were critically examined, with many pokes and punches, just as slaves used to be. The first to be put up was a fat old fellow, and the bidding advanced very slowly to $30. "Bless my soul," cried the auctioneer, "I recollect the time when he'd bring $500. Twenty, twenty, twenty; any advance on twenty? Go up and examine him, gentlemen. He's able to do a good day's work yet, breaking rock or breaking hemp, or even working on a railroad. Look how sleek and fat he is. Look at his arms and legs." He was knocked down to Col. Craig, a railroad contractor, for $34. The other negro was younger and stronger. Craig wanted him, but he was bought for $112 by a man who meant to put him at street sprinkling. This sale was the first held under a new Kentucky trump law.

The Man Who Does Not Like to Live Alone.

We recently spoke of the man who does not like to live alone, and who, where there are so many vacant seats in a car, can find only the one which is next to you. In the dining-room of a leading hotel one morning this week an Ohio man stood looking for a moment at the many tables, most of which were unoccupied, and his eyes lit upon two gentlemen who were having breakfast and a conversation in a far corner. Then he plunged forward, took a seat at the same table, and was about to participate in the conversation when a waiter told him that tables were, as a rule, reserved for private parties, and that he must remove. He could not understand, and probably does not yet understand why he could not make one of that little crowd.

A Sad Night on the Mountains.

Macau Telegraph.

Mrs. Ambrose Bartley was drowned in Holly Creek, near Cohutta Springs a few days ago. She had gone on the mountain in search of pink root and ginseng, in company with a little girl, and when returning home in the evening she slipped from a precipice and fell into the stream below. Her little companion was powerless to render her assistance, and the unfortunate woman soon drowned. All night the little girl remained desolate and alone by the side of the corpse, which was floating among some driftwood a few feet off. When morning dawned the girl returned home, a distance of five miles, telling, on her arrival, the sad sad story.

Brother Burglars.

N. Y. Sun.

There is a precedent for everything, if we did but know it. We were lately scandalized at the account of two students, brother burglars. They had their prototype 200 years ago in England. The records of St. Catherine's College, Cambridge, recently brought to light, show that James Beversham and his brother Benjamin, nephews of Sir Wm. Beversham, Bart., were committed to prison by the master of their college, acting as Vice-Chancellor, for robbing a butcher, on the highway, of £6, and at the ensuing assizes sentenced to death. Charles II., however, reprieved and pardoned them, and James lived to succeed to the baronetcy.

The Voyage of a Bottle.

Providence Journal.

A champagne bottle was recently found by Benjamin F. Sison, a fisherman, on the beach about two miles and a half east of Watch Hill, which contained the following writing: "The finder of this bottle will please return to Mr. John Burns, barkeeper on the steamer Bristol, and get a reward of $10. This is a bet between Mr. Burns and Mr. Mangan, the freight clerk, that this bottle would never be seen again, and either one will pay the reward. Thrown overboard of Block Island, May 20, 1880. Harry Hascamp." The bottle had been a year and three days afloat.

Silph's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold; a few doses invariably cure the worst cases of Cough, Croup, and Bronchitis, while its wonderful success in the sister affection, since its first discovery, it has sold on a guarantee, a test, which no other medicine can stand. If you have a Cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10 cts., 25 cts., and $1.00. If you like, send a Cough or Bronchitis to Silph's Patent Plaster, Price 25 cts. Sold by Osburn & Shoemaker, Druggists, Reno, Nevada.
